RANAWAY from the subscriber, on or about the 15th day of June, 1857, his man "RICHARD," sometimes called "RICHARD MALLETT." Said Richard is a mulatto, about 33 to 35 years of age, rather likely, quick spoken, and given to talking, especially if he has been drinking; is slim built, about 5 feet 8 to 10 inches high; has had his care prior and has generally worn amally income in them. his ears pierced, and has generally worn small rings in them. He is a Carpenter by trade. He formerly belonged to Mr. T. J. Armstrong, and was raised in the town of Wilmington, and waited about the store of Hall & Armstrong—has a wife in Wilmington named Maria, belonging to Mrs. C. A. Fulton, and now hired to Mr. A. McRae, Jr. He may be lurking about Wilmington, or perhaps may have gone to Weldon, Petersburg, or Norfolk, passing himself off as free, and may have obtained work at some of the railroad depots. I will give the above reward for his delivery to me, or his lodgment in any jail where I can get him.

B. R. HOOD respectfully informs the public that he is still at his old stand in Clinton, where he continues to manufacture CARRIAGES, BAROUCHES, ROCKAWAYS AND BUGGIES. He is prepared at all times to execute work with neatness and despatch. He superintends all his operations in person, and guarantees that his work shall be as durable, as neat, and as cheap as any other establishment in the State.

He is now constantly employed in manufacturing and applying his new patent scroll springs, without which no buggy can be complete. These springs prevent the usual unpleasant motion, and add but little to the cost of a buggy and is of incalculable benefit, as they completely prevent that strain upon the other springs which has given rise to so many breakings. All who want an easy riding buggy will give him a call. May 28th, 1858 RHODE'S SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

It was near sunset, on a cold December's evening, in the latter part of the last century, a traveler was seen wending his way through that pleasant district of country and all that goes to make man a noble ness, or some accident had brought him home, but havcreature. Such anticipations were enough to make the young heart quail as he thought of what awaited him, four years confinement among a people, such as we have described. Agreeably, however, was he disappointed on reaching his destination to find that even there, in that have a formed of the property land of snow, were true and manly hearts as ere pulsated in the bosom of any of God's creature man, that even there were hearts that beat in mournful unison with those at home, at the temporary loss of a darling son; that there were hearts as solicitous for his welfare as Clara Morton in his own bright sunny South. For four years Charley Mason remained at the institution, of which we have spoken. By his urbanity of manners, gentleness of disposition, and good conduct, he endeared himself to all. Pupil and teacher were alike, bound to each other by the tender ties of the most ardent friendship, and never was there such a gloom cast over the hearts of all, as there was when it was announced that the day had arrived for him to return home. Friends crowded around him, and tears flowed freely as the carriage that bore him away slowly receded from view .-

The well known peal of the old bell again sommons them to divine worship; they meet, but a gloom hangs over all, the very house itself seems to participate in the mournful feeling. The minister arose, and never did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the throne did a more solemn, fervent appeal, ascend to the carriage and were soon set down before the mansion, which was to be her future situation when found by the good people, with whom it home. Although Mattie Clifton was to rise from the direct poverty, to the scenes of unbounded wealth, she did not leave her forest home without pangs of sorrow. She shed a tear as she cast a glance at the mouldering dust touched by a master hand. months ago and had well a stranger, and was now perhaps in the sunny clime of Italy.

Charley Mason received this announcement with remarkable fortitude, for none other had ever had a share of his love. "Can it be possible that Clara Morton is married?" he would ask himself, "or am I dreaming? Can it be possible that she, whom I loved so well, has deceived me?" "I am glad," he would exclaim, in the next breath "that she is married. I would account to next breath, "that she is married. I would scorn to marry any woman who could be so false to every principle of honor and truth." He almost said at least he thought it, "Mattie Clifton will not deceive me."

toil day and night for a living, but situated as I am, in a lonely desolate country, I see nothing in the future which promises relief from my present distress."

As Charley Mason contrasted the beautiful woman with the little girl of but six years ago, he could hardly persuade himself that they were one and the same person. He was the happiest creature of the occasion. He saw, to his infinite delight, that she shone transcendant to all, though the beauty and wealth of the whole country were present. Quite as happy as the young man, were old Mr. and Mrs. Mason. Mattie Clifton's praise resounded through-"Do as I bid you," said the traveler, "and my word for it your promise to your father shall be attended to." the topics of conversation in every circle. She was the topics of conversation in every circle. She was envied by her own sex, and her acquaintance was courted by the opposite. But a change, a sad change came over the spirit of their dreams. Mrs. Mason, the kind mother, the affectionate friend and the accomplished lady, must die. A terrible epidemic, which had lately swept over the counof the departed friends, the vales where she was wont to try, destroying thousands upon thousands in its train, cambol in Spring time, and the little birds as they sat had laid violent hands upon her, and death seemed to

Angels in Heaven were rejoicing, for one more was added to their number. The very house that had so lately been the scene of joy and festivities, was now, in the space of twelve short days, a house of mourning.

As might have been expected, this sad event produced a serious effect upon old Mr. Mason's health; it was evident to all, and to none more so than himself, that his health was fast declining, and that ere long he too must pass away. In a conversation with his son, but a few days before his death, he informed him that he was aware his end was fast approaching; that a few short days or weeks at most, and his weary feet must sink to everlasting rest; that could he see or be assured of one event, he had no more to ask of earth, but would await the dreadful summons of death—that was to see Charley

This good couple had an only child, Charley Mason, the young graduate, and they were glad to have the little girl come, that she might, by her presence and smiles, cheer them, for they felt sadly their loss in not having a daughter.

Charley found Mattie Clifton relating the story of her life in such a sweet, simple manner, that he was happy to the describe it.

Mattie Clifton's history may be written in a few words. Her father was once Judge of the court in that portion of the country where Charley Mason and herself first met, and which, as we said in the beginning of daring outlaws the world ever saw. In an attack made upon him one night, by one of these bands, little Mattie life in such a sweet, simple manner, that he was happy was seized and carried off as a trophy. Judge Clifton, however, made his escape. Not wishing to destroy the innocent child, for their object was plunder not murder, they placed it in the open road the next day, hoping that Elections have been held this week in several States. In Pennsylvania the result appears to have been disastrous to the administration Democrats. This we anticipated for reasons which we took occasion to state last week. There is no denying the fact that disorganization prevails to a considerable extent throughout the North. There is one good feature however. Apart from the efforts of personally dissatisfied politicians who want a split, there is really no irreconcileable breach. and there is abundant time between the present date and that of the next great contest to restore harmony. Besides, the difficulty arises upon an issue which must pass away within the next year. Kansas cannot come in under any other arrangement than that provided in the English Bill-for this circumstances provide a certain guarantee. The territorial legislature will not meet before January. To pass a bill calling a Convention to form a Constitution-to give due notice of the holding of the election for delegates to such Convention—to receive and verify returns-for the Convention to meet and form a Constitution-to have that Constitution published and voted upon by the people and the returns of that canvassed and acted upon, and the Constitution so framed and ratified, sent on to Washington with an application for admission-all these things will require too much time to render possible any movement in that direction during the short session of the present Congress, and before the next Congress assembles, Kansas will be certain to have the full population required by the "adjustment" bill.

The idea to which some journals and veracious letterwriters appear anxious to give currency, to the effect that Mr. Buchanan seeks a re-nomination, appears to be, and no doubt is, wholly chimerical. There is evidently nothing in it. We still lean to the belief that circumstances favor, if, indeed, they do not actually point to the nomination of a Southern presidential candidate.

The Democrats are uniformly successful in the elections held at the South. They have carried Florida handsomely-have succeeded in the municipal election in Savannah, and are in the ascendant in every State from Mason & Dixon's line to the Rio Grande. The State of Maryland, even, outside of the mob-controlled city of fifty thousand dollars, the proceeds to be applied in the the curtain and its exhibition to the audience, was the glish capitalists. We have sometimes been surprised by the course of the Southern Citizen, a very talented paper published at Knoxville, Tenn., by John Mitchell and Wm. G. Swann. To be in the opposition to most of the aristocratic or autocratic governments of Europe, is almost a necessity for any person who regards the people as the source, and the good of the people as the end and object of the exercise of all power. But in the United States the case is different, and however much any citizen may deprecate the existence of any law and seek its repeal. while it is a law, he is bound to yield it obedience, and certainly the enforcement of existing laws is an obligation from which no public officer can escape, without that, supported on columns of the same character Mr. Metkiff did not appear quite at home in his part as Paraguay Expedition. A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce who appears to understand the subject, thus de-tails the difficulties to be encountered by the United States forces in carrying out the views of our Government by the intended expedition to Paraguay. "Much has been written lately in regard to a naval expedition which is shortly to leave our shores, for the purpose of enforcing the just demands of the United states, against the Republic of Paraguay. One would to kill, and, by many, confounded with the Coco and suppose, from the articles published in the newspapers, other worthless grasses, some have discarded it. I will that this Paraguay Expedition was to be a sort of a holiday excursion, and that all this Musquito Fleet had to do, was to steam up the river to the capital of Paraguay, and to batter down a fort or two. Now it is as well to state what this expedition will really have to encounter, in case Lopez refuses to accede to the demands which will be made by the United States through Judge Bowlin. So far from President Lopez heard Booth and Collins, and Rose De Vries, and think we can furnish an appreciative audience, but not Ole Bull, and the colored minstrels, was very dilapmands, it is thought by those who ought to knew, that Judge Bowlin will not be allowed to enter Paraguay Territory, but will be received at the extreme Southern the Republic and sent back from whence he came. There is little probability that Lopes will permit a steamer to ascend the river, and thereby give those on board an opportunity to view his means fence, and even should he be ever so willing, it is not through the stomach of a cow and then vegetate. Adlikely that he will remove the obstructions which will be mitting this all to be true (for it comes from a reliable placed in the river before Judge B.'s arrival. In approaching this redoubt, the fleet of steamers will receive a raking fire for the distance of half a mile. This redoubt is placed on an elevation about sixty feet above Crab Grass as some of your correspondents have of the the level of the river. Suppose then, the possibility of Bermuda. THE CHINESE IN NEW SOUTH WALES TAXED £10 PER HEAD.—The London Times correspondent at Syd

The policy of restricting the Chinese immigration has been so warmly discussed during the month as completely to throw political questions into the shade. Excluded from South Australia and Victoria by the imposition of penalties, the Celestials have sought access to the interior through the port of Sydney. Ship after ship has arrived from Canton, each bringing 500 at a time of these industrious foreigners. The shopkeepers are not unfriendly towards this immigration, for the Chinese purchase their outfits in Sydney, and as they are cash, are no despicable customers; but the diggers dislike them extremely, and grudge them all the gold they get as so much loss to themselves, while the working classes generally look with an evil eye on the arrival of swarms of men who may at some future time abandon the gold fields, and supply squatters, manufacturers and railway contractors with cheap labor. The government introduced a bill levying a tax of £3 a head on each 'Chinese passenger arriving by sea. It was expressly explained by the premier that this sum was not intended to act as a prohibition, but only to form a fund to repay the special expenses for police, interpretors, &c., to which the arrival of the Chinese will put the government. This, however, hy no means satisfied the popular feeling as these members of the Assembly who especially repre-sent the views of the working classes demanded an increase of the tax, premier assented to raise it to £10. He was foundation of independent living, but the success attend ing it would also preve a source of revenue in the South.

A SOUTH CAROLINIAN INDIGNANT.-We took a seat last evening upon one of the iron benches in Jackson Square, near a seedy, gannt, tall-looking man, about fif-ty, who, dressed in a shabby suit of black, sat looking on at the children enjoying their romps on the shell walk contentedly. The old fellow next us, got up at the same instant and walked off a few paces; but suddenly turning, he advanced towards the officer, and addressed him in an excited manner: "Do you know who I am?" The officer answered rather gruffly in the negative. "Well," said the tall questioner, "1'm from South Carolina," and placing States legation at China, has arrived here, and brings his thumbs in his arm-holes, he surveyed the somewhat puzzled officer for a few moments; and then reaching out his right hand until it nearly touched the latter' nose, said: "I do think that was the d-t coolest most impudent piece of business I ever heard tell of," and wheeling around, went off exclaiming, "I'm from South Carolina, I am." The astonishment of the nonplussed officer can be better imagined than described.

In proof of this, we have only to look at the vast amounts drawn yearly from the proceeds of our cotton, and laid out for work mules, fine saddle and carriage horses, and for pork hogs. All of this expense is, from year to year, kept up for want of grass pastures to rear them ourselves and which, at the same time, would not interfere in the least, with our cultivated crops. I contend, however we have been crowned with complete success in finding out one kind at least adapted to our climate, which wil make good pastures six months in the year, and that is the much abused Bermuda Grass; still, for its being hard here ask the question, Do we want a kind easily killed or crowded out by the native weeds of the country? If so, I could present your readers with a very long catalogue that would make as fine pastures, likely, as the Bermuda; but, unfortunately, they cannot stand our hot summers. Not so with the Bermuda—the hot sun is its element—and its onward march is only impeded by bar. ren rocks, water courses and densely shaded forests. It grows precisely where we want it to grow. To confine t to certain limits we only have to hedge with the Cher. okee Rose, the Osage Orange, or border the pasture with shade trees or a post and rail fence, with a wide base plank extending 4 inches in the ground would keep it in bounds; but we are told it is propagated from the joints, and that they are carried between the hoofs of cattle on our fields intended for cultivation, and that it will pass pose the naked roots to the hot sun one week would kill t so dead that Thompson's third preparation would never bring it to life. No speculation about this-1 have tried it, Messrs. Editors.

When I wanted to make large crops of cotton, and but little to eat, I had equally as bad an opinion of the in corn and cotton was wearing it out, and I commenced pasturing a part of it and clearing every year, until finally I got all of my stock on a good pasture.— The scales then fell from my eyes and I could see that

Who can fill that vaccuum with a suitable grass for winter pastures? This, I contend, after availing ourselves of the information already gained, is all we need in the way of grasses. Should we fail in this, I would suggest, as a substitute, to enlarge our Bermuda Grass pastures, and that a portion be reserved for winter grazing, and not suffer any stock to run on it until needed in winter. This would certainly have the desired ef-(and it seems to me it would, as it is a hardy evergreen.) the short grass, at least, left by the stock late in the fall

Your obedient servant, E. JINKINS. Horse Pen, Miss., Sept. 1858. Lodgings for Boots.

A short time age, one of our citizens, who loves his joke about as well as folks usually do, had occasion to visit one of the small towns in the interior of the State, and knowing he would have considerable walking over muddy roads, he took with him a pair of long rubber boots. He arrived at his destination about 9 o'clock in the evening, and upon inquiry, he found the only tavern in the place was half a mile from the station. No convevance was to be had, and the road was muddy in the extreme. Congratulating himself on having his long boots, he set off, and found the mud in some spots so deep, his boots were barely long enough. He reached the hotel at last, looking rather soiled about the feet .-

After supper, he inquired the charge for lodgings. "We usually charge," answered the landlord, who also had some fun in his composition, "twenty-five cents; but if a man goes to bed with such boots as them on," (pointing to his customer's feet,) " we charge him

fifty cents.' "A very good idea, I should think." returned the traveler. After half an hour's conversation, the landlord showed him to his room, and they parted for the night mutually pleased with each other. The next morning, our friend arose late, and inquiring for the landlord, learned that he had gone from home to attend to some business. After breakfast, he handed a dollar to the landlord's wife, say-

"There is fifty cents for my supper and breakfast, and fifty cents for my lodging." "Twenty-five cents is all we charge for lodging," said

"Yes," returned the stranger, "under ordinary circumstances; but in this case fifty cents is not too much. The stranger departed, and the lady was deep in conecture as to what could be the circumstances which required a man to pay double price for lodgings, when her husband returned " Has that man who slept in the front chamber come down yet?" he asked. "Yes," answered his wife, " and he has gone away. He paid fifty cents for his lodging, and said, under the circumstances, it was right,"

"The d—I he did!" exclaimed the landlord, rushing up stairs. His wife followed, to learn the meaning of such strange proceeding, and found her husband with the bed-clothes turned down, and her best bed looking more fit to plant potatoes in than it did for any human being to sleep in "You saw that man when he came here last night? said her husband.

" Yes."

"You saw his boots, didn't you?"

"Well," said the landlord, "the infernal cuss slept in

A few days after, the traveler, on his return home, put up again at the same tavern. Neither himself nor the landlord said anything about the boots, which were in about the same condition as on the previous occasion; but the landlady looked daggers at him, and eyed his boots with much anxiety. About ten o'clock, he said he would retire. "And, by the way, landlord," said he, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "what do you upually charge for ledging?"

"We charge," answered the landlord, with a most tremendous emphasis, "twenty-five cents!"

MURDERER ARRESTED .- Jonas Brantley and Carson Pucket were arrested in this city on Monday morning last by Sheriff High. Brantley is the man who killed a man named Perry in an affray at an election precinct in Nash county, on the 5th of August last, an account of which was published in the Register at the time, and who has eluded all efforts to arrest him until the present

It is not known that Puckett has been guilty of any misdemeanor, but he was in company with Brantley at the time of his arrest, and failing to give a satisfactory account of himself, was committed until and investigation could be had. Both he and Brantly were armed with double-barrelled guns and rifles, and were on their way, when arrested, to the Central Depot, where they intended taking the cars, but for what place we did not learn .- Raleigh Register.

THE OLD DOMINION COFFEE POT.

THIS NEW COFFEE POT, for which a patent has been issued, possess this advantage over all others: It is well known that, in the ordinary way of boiling coffee, the fine aroma, which gives to the coffee its most delicious flavor, passes off with the vapor, and the longer it is boiled, the more bitter and unpalatable, and unhealthy it becomes; hence a resort to the French Strainer. which gives a raw-tasting beverage. TURPENTINE-Since the close of our last review there has been a better demand for shipping purposes, which caused prices to advance a shade on all qualities, and on Monday the sales were at $3 10 for virgin and yellow dip, and $1 75 firm at these figures. We omit quotations for old hard in table below, as new begins to be brought in at this season of the year, when old generally sells at half the price of yellow dip. The receipts and sales for the week ended this transactions have been light, owing partly to the scarcity of freight room. After closing our review on Thursday last the price went up to 46 cents, and on Friday further advanced 1 cent and sales made at 461 cents per gallon; since then it has ruled steady at latter price. The stock in first hands is light, and is generally held at 47 cents. We quote

Rosin .- For Common the market has been entirely neglected during the week just ended, not a single transaction having taken place that we are aware of. The difficulty in shipping, together with the high rates of freight, and the prices at which sellers are holding, keep buyers out of market. In the absence of sales our quotations in table must be considered as merely nominal. For other grades the market remains unchanged, and transactions small. We quote

CORN MEAL.-No receipts from the country, and sales have been confined to small parcels from the granaries at 90 cents per bushel;—stock light, and demand moderate. FIRH.—Mullets are in small supply, and receipts light; in moderate enquiry. Only one lot of 30 bbls. received and sold at $6 50 for pine bbls. FLOUR.-In State brands we have no material alteration to report on last week's prices. The arrivals both per river and railroad continue small, and we notice only a light stock in market; there is, however, merely a retail demand existing, for which the supply is fully adequate. We have to report only a few small transactions for the week at $5 50 a $5 75 for fine, and $6 per bbl. for superfine-market closing quiet at these figures. See table for quotations of other grades.

GRAIN.-For CORN the market has ruled about the same as noticed in our last review. The supply in dealers' hands continues light, but it appears to be fully sufficient for present purposes, as there is but little demand. Received for the week 3,000 bushels, of which 2,000 changed hands at 75 cents 2 bushel, and the balance has gone into store. OATS .- None received for some weeks past, and the stock on market has become materially reduced. Nominal at quotations in table. PEAS. C. cured have been moderate, and there is a heavy stock at present in first hands. There has been only a limited demand for some time, and the transactions have been principally in the retail way. See table for prices. The arrivals of Western cured have been moderate, and there is a full supply in first hands. The demand is mostly for small parcels, and the sales have been confined to small lots at prices ranging within quotations, as in quantity and quality. See table. LARD The demand for this article has been unusually light for some time, and the market is very well supplied with both N. C. and Western. We quote small sales of both qualities during the week at 12 a 124 cents # lb.-PORK-For Northern mess the market has ruled quite dull since our last, and prices have gone down a shade ;-demand limited, and full stock in first hands. Small sales at prices ranging within quotations. See table.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Borhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

JOY TO THE ADMIRERS OF A FINE HEAD OF

RICH GLOSSY HAIR. MALK OF BEAUTY, it cannot exist without a fine head of hair, then read the following, and if you ask more, see circular around each bottle, and no one can doubt:
PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We call PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We call the attention of all, old and young, to this wonderful preparation, which turns back to its original color gray hair—covers the head of the bald with a luxuriant growth—removes the dandruff, itching, and all cutaneous eruptions—causes a continual flow of the natural fluids; and hence, if used as a regular dressing for the hair, will preserve its color, and keep it from falling to extreme old age, in all its natural beauty. We call then upon the bald, the gray, or diseased in scalp, to use it; and surely the young will not, as they value the flowing locks, or the witching curl, ever be without it. Its praise is upon the tongue of thousands.

The Agent for Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative in New Haven, received the following letter in regard to the Restora-

DEEP RIVER, Conn., July 23, 1856.

DEEP RIVER, Conn., July 23, 1856. Mr. Leavenworth—Sir: I have been troubled with dandruff or scurf on my head for more than a year, my hair began to come out, scurf and hair together. I saw in a New Haven paper about "Wood's Hair Restorative" as a cure I called at your store on the 1st of April last, and purchased one bottle to try it, and I found to my satisfaction it was the thing; it removed the scurf and new hair began to grow; it is now two or three inches in length where it was all off. I have great faith in it. I wish you to send me two bottles more by Mr. Post, the bearer of this. I don't know as any of the kind is used in this place, you may have a market for many bottles after it is known here. Yours with respect, RUFUS PRATT.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9, 1856.

Prof. Wood—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative is proving itself beneficial to me. The front, and also the back part of my head almost lost its covering—in fact BALD. I have used but two half-pint bottles of your Restorative, and now the tip of my head is well studded with a promising crop of young hair, and the front is also receiving its benefit. I have tried other preparations without any benefit whatever. I think from my own personal recommendation, I can induce many others to try it.

Yours respectfully. Yours respectfully, D. R. THOMAS, M. D.

NEW BOOKS.

The much-talked-of English bill accepted Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution, but refused to agree to give the amount of land demanded by the new State as the condition of her waiver of any claim to tax United States lands, or other property within her borders .-Congress offered her admission with the amount of lands given to other new States. If she chose to come in so she might do so. If not, she must wait her turn, until the census of her population should prove her possession Congress.

Why, practically speaking, so far as Kansas is concerned, the question may be considered settled arises from the fact that no constitution can be framed and presented to Congress, as a preliminary step to the admission of Kansas, during the coming short session .-With the influx of population, occasioned by the gold discoveries on the South Platte, it is evident that by mission has expired. the close of 1859, when admission will really come up. the conditions of the English Bill in regard to population will be fully complied with.

But all that amounts to little-be the time long of short before Kansas comes in, when in does come it will be as a free State. That we think is conceded. The real matter involved now is, whether faith is to be kept between the different sections of the Union-whether pledges are of any value, whether principles affirmed by the Supreme Court and not denied by any true Demo- found 2,729 letters which contained money, amounting crat are to be acknowledged in the letter but trampled in the aggregate to $12,921 82. For the quarter which upon in the spirit.

Now this adjustment, such as it is, was accepted in thing they wanted, but it was the best they could get. If all southern men had united there would have been no trouble-Kansas would now be in the Union with the Lecompton Constitution. But this was not the case, and of cash has been restored to the original owners. the best was done that could be done. It was an integral part of the compromise, it was inserted in it as such that if Kansas should fail to accept the offer then made to her, she should be required to wait until she could show a sufficient population to entitle her to a member. All the other parts of the "settlement" have been complied with, and yet there are not wanting Northern men who voted for it, but who now deny any obligation to redeem the pledge which they thereby gave ;-they contend that no bill of this kind can bar the future action of Congress, or prevent its admitting Kansas at any time, with or without the requisite population. Perhaps they are legally right, but the morality of such dodging and want of faith would be difficult to characterize, as would also the cool effrontry of Mr. Douglas' argument that a territory, though bound to acknowledge the rights of property in the slave of the emigrant from a Southern State, can legally deprive that emigrant of it by refusing to extend to it the protection of the laws, although this 18 inches deep; the weapons used were an axe and clubs; is in direct conflict with the decision of the Supreme Court which Mr. Douglas professes to uphold.

We were more than a little surprised by a communication in the Herald of Saturday, from Asa A Brown, Esq., complaining bitterly of his removal from the office of Clerk of the U.S. District Court here .-The office, we understand, amounts to very little in the way of emolument, and few people of any party take enough interest in the affair one way or the other to feel or express any peculiar emotion about it, much less the indignation which Mr. Brown imagines. Mr. Brown ought to be too old a politician to complain of the fortune of war; and is too ardent and uncompromising a partizan himself to expect immunity from the usual fate. His unfavorable opinion of Judge Biggs is, if we mistake not, of rather old standing; but still, the Judge has survived, and will probably continue to do so. That a Democratic Judge should prefer to have a Democratic Clerk, is certainly not unnatural, not more so, surely, than that an Opposition Judge should always seek his appointees from the ranks of the Opposition, as Mr. B. knows to have been the case.

We are all tired of personal asperities, and, we presume, the public can take little interest in the private that we might offer in reply. Of all the things in the wide world the afflictions of disappointed office seekers | Later from Havana Explosion of a Magazine Terrior removed office holders receive the least sympathy from the public, however deeply and sincerely the particular individuals may realize their own supposed wrongs. We cannot but wonder that Mr. Brown's good sense and knowledge of life had not suggested these reflections to him, and thus prevented his making an expose which might lead a stranger to do injustice to both.

NOT A BAD OPERATION.—The amount of prize mon ey for the capture of the Africans of the Echo, by Lieut Maffit and the officers and crew of the Dolphin is $7,600. According to law this sum is to be distributed as fol lows: The flag officer receives one twentieth, the commanding officer of the Dolphin two-twentieths, and the officers and crew of the Dolphin get the remainder, according to rank and rate. When the Echo has been condemped and sold, one half of the proceeds will go to the naval pension fund, the other half will be distributed among the officers and crew of the Dolphin, according to the same rule by which the per capita prize money is distributed. It is doubted whether the flag officer (Commodore McIntosh) is entitled to one-twentieth, as he was absent, on leave, from his station at the time of the capture. Lieutenant Maffit's share of the per capita will amount to $760, which will not be hard to take.

Our readers may remember that in 1855, two brothers, named Everett, taking offense at some remark of Patrick McGowan, a mail agent on the Raleigh & Gaston Road, made a joint attack upon McGowan, at Weldon, beating him unmercifully, so much so, indeed that his life was despaired of. McGowan sued for damages, claiming $10,000. After almost interminable delays the case was tried at the Superior Court for Wake Co. held this week at Raleigh, Judge Caldwell on the bench. The jury after being out an hour and a half, came in with a verdict of five hundred dollars damages. We presume the suit, lingering for over three years has already cost McGowan every cent of this and more too.

MESSRS. FULTON & PRICE: Gents: I noticed in your paper of yesterday the mention of the murder of Mr. Alfred Boyett; and as it seems you were not furnished with the particulars, I take it upon myself to give them to you, hoping that you will give it a notice (as Mr. Boyett was a most estimable and worthy citizen.) Mr. Boyett was building a house for Wm. E. Hill, Esq., about 500 or 600 yards from His liabilities are estimated at £53,000. where Mr. Hill now resides; slept in a house near the new building, but ate his meals down with Mr. Hill .-Well, on the 1st inst., as usual, he went down after his supper, and remained talking with Mr. Hill until about that it is 8 o'clock, when he left for his lodgings; about half way from one house to the other, he was most brutally and shockingly murdered. His body was found on Tuesday last, about a quarter of a mile from where the foul deed was perpetrated, in a woods, crammed in a hole some 15 or the axe and a c'ub was found near by the place-axe full of blood and hair. He was struck on the head, just above the ear, his skull broken, and his brains scattered drawn, the Monteneg through and among his hair. Other wounds on the fore- presence. head and face seem to have been inflicted with clubs. Suspicion rested on two of Mr. Wm. E. Hill's negroes, and they were taken up. They confessed they committed the murder, implicating also one of Maj. Kenan's, and one of Mr. Isaac Brown's boys. Mr. Hill's two, and Maj. Kenan's are confined in our Jail. Their motive, they say, for killing him was to get his money-no other harm against him. Mr. Boyett was about 30 years old; a contractor and builder by trade, and from his honest and upright conduct, bad established a reputation of high grade. He leaves no wife or children to mourn his loss, but an innumerable number of friends to regret his death,-particularly the manner in which he was so shockingly A SPECTATOR

Houston, Esq., of Duplin, to present his name to the members elect, as a suitable person for State Solicitor in this, the Second Judicial Circuit?

Mr. Houston is a young man of promise and talent, and one who has done as much for the Democratic party as any ting out, there being no fewer than three engriefs of any gentleman, and still less in any remarks other gentleman of his age. Would he not make a capital " ANGOLA."

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6th.—The steamer Black Warrior has arrived here from Havana with dates to the 2d. A large magazine at Havana, filled with powder, shells and rockets, exploded on the 29th ult., by which 28 persons were killed and 105 wounded. Many more were also buried under the ruins. Ninety new sugar-houses were totally destroyed and the gas works were rendered useless, so that the city at night was in total

The police and troops were guarding property. The whole city was affected by the shock and many buildings were damaged. Governor General Concha was the first official on the ground, and was quite active in aiding the unfortunate.

The cause of the disaster was unknown. Sugars had declined a trifle. Stock on hand 120.-

Cuban Slave Trade.

HAVANA, Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1858. Gen. Concha's admirers have found themselves quite puzzled to explain the apathy displayed in the discharge of his public functions, as exhibited lately in the landing of 903 slaves from the American ship Haidee, of New York, in the very bay of Cardenas, without the slight est show of resistance from the authorities. The vessel and cargo are owned by Zulueta, the great Cuban slave-None of the negroes were captured, nor any one molested engaged in their landing. Since the safe delivery of the unfortunates to their masters, it has been rumored that Zulueta and others would be arrested; but I am rather inclined to think that Concha has been either grossly deceived by his advisers, or has thought fit to abstain from arresting a man who has on former occasions proved himself sufficiently powerful and opulent at Court to overthrow a Captain-General. Several others are pointed out as part owners of the cargo, several of whom hold high positions in the Government; but this may be merely a ruse of the slave-traders, to insure protection in their unboly expeditions. In meantime, the trade appears to thrive throughout the island, and our port is still the favorite place for fitgaged in that operation—the brig Crimea, schooner Enterprise, and bark Ardennes-none of which, it is to be boned, will be allowed to leave here, at least until our new Consul arrives, who will certainly bring out special instructions about such cases. Hardly a day passes without our receiving reports of landings of cargoes in different parts of the island, and, strange to say, they are all immediately sold with their cedulars signed by the Government official! Still, we must believe that they are honest men, and that the documents have been spuriously issued by the dealers themselves! Your readers may recollect that the same scandalous scenes took place about this time last year, when the port of Havana was selected as the most appropriate spot for carrying on the trade, though this may depend mainly upon Concha's absence at Marianao, where he may be condered as retired from office, as far as such things go .-It is to be hoped that the "temporado" will be hastened to its close, and that the pleasure of the "monte' and "golfo" tables will be sacrificed to the duties of office. Several of our wealthy families have lost large sums of money at Marianao, this year, and the blacklegs have had a fine season.

It is again rumored in the military circle that our Mexico may be regenerated, through the kind interference of a Spanish invasion, though I can hear no good reasons for such a conclusion, except the sending out of 2,000 recruits to the Cuban army, which number will

THE FIRST FROST .- Messrs. vesterday. At a few minutes after 5 P. M., fire was covered in the Forty-second street entrance, which has been used as a lumber room since the opening of the Fair. The flames spread with fearful rapidity, and, darting up through the steps of the staircase, communidarting up through the steps of the staircase, communicated to a large gas chandelier with thirty-one burners, then to a quantity of paints and oils on the second floor, was placed in the hands of the authorities by whom, or, leaped across to some bedding and cabinet furniture, and with astonishing celerity shot up to the dome, which loosely estimated. If the Palace were worth $125,000. (the last price paid upon it,) and the property of exhibitors, at a very low estimate, named at $225,000, the total loss would be $350,000, to which is to be added the value of statuary and other works of art which were retained in the building after the World's Fair; so that it is, perhaps, safe to estimate the entire value of the civil authorities, or even the military itself. And this property destroyed at a much higher figure.

several fine pieces of statuary, including Kiss's equestrian statue of the Amazon, Marochetti's fine colossal statuc of Washington, casts from Thorwalsden's group of the Apostles, a bas-relief of the 'Descent from the Cross,' a mantle statue of Columbus, and several other valuable works of art.

"This calamity has struck every one aghast, for the possibility of such an event has never been calculated upon. The reculiar character of the building, constructed as it was almost entirely of iron and glass, appeared the correctness of the deductions. Mr. Brett says that simple rope of gutta percha covered cable have been more rapid than any building of wood could possibly have been. In less than fifteen minutes from the time the fire was discovered the flames spread with such fearful rapidity that the immense dome, which has so long been an object of beauty towering over the city, and a landmark from every approach, fell, and the work of destration was complete. It was like a flash. The great fabric of glass and iron, with its priceless treasures of art, were suddenly wiped out of existence as though they had been mere unsubstantial vapor. The earth hath bubbles as the water hath, and this was one of them.

"At no other time could the disaster have been more deplorable in its consequences than the present. The building itself, though immensely costly, was of but secondary importance to the wealth of objects which it contained. The Thirtieth Annual Exhibition of the American Institute was at its height, and there was a collection of objects of art and industry whose value they delay for a single month to give Hanover notice precious inventions, rare gems, exquisite examples of that it is required to terminate the ill advised treaty mechanical ingenuity and skill, and many products of the higher arts. The fire broke out in that part of the building where there happened to be the greatest quantity of inflammable materials; the apparatus for extinguishing fires gave out at the moment it was needed, and there was a high wind, which sucked the flan.es up into the dome and along the galleries where all sorts of combustible articles were placed, as if on purpose to feed the devouring element.

"There were in the building when the alarm of fire was given some two thousand persons, and the one con solation to be derived from the great disaster is that all of this crowd were enabled to escape without harm. It was a miracle that no one was killed in the sudden co lapse of the enormous structure. The Palace was originally the property of an incorporation, known as the 'Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations.' This company was incorporated March 11, 1852; the first president was Theodore Sedgvick. The building was commenced in the fall of 1852, and inaugurated by President Pierce on the 14th July, 1853. The exhibition remained open for nearly a year, and the presidency was subsequently vested in Mr. P. T. Barnum, under whose auspices a reinauguration took place on the 4th of May, 1854. In dition of the Cable.—A Discouraging Report from Mr. Varley. At last we have something official and intelligible in regard to the condition of the Atlantic cable. Mr. Varley, " the Electrician of the Electric and International Telegraph Company "—so he is styled by the company -has made a report on the state of the cable as observed by him on the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th of September, and the result is by no means encouraging .-He finds "a fault of great magnitude at a distance of between 245 and 300 statute miles from Valentia," and possibly in water of but 410 fathoms in depth. He finds the cable unbroken, but thinks the power used will shortly eat away the exposed copper wire in the faulty place by electrolytic decomposition. He is satisfied also that there is another "fault" more distant than this, the approximate locality of which he could not estimate without communication with Newtoundland. From authentic data shown him at Valentia, he is also of opinion that there was a fault in the cable on board the Agamemnon before it was submerged, offering a resistance equal to 1,000 or 1,200 miles of cable, situated at a distance of about 560 miles from one end of the 1,200 mile coil, and supposed to be the fault which caused so much alarm when the ships were 500 miles from Ireland. He is satisfied that the cable has been seriously, if not It is again rumored in the military circle that our fatally, impaired by the use of too powerful currents good mother the Queen still cherishes the hope that from the large induction coils, especially from this side, and that the present conducting strand is too small to have answered its purpose, even had the insulation been found. After a few signals had been sent from the introduction coils in the cable, and consequently into the test wire, the electricity burnt through the incision, rapidly burning a hole nearly one-tenth of an inch in diameter When the full force of the coils was brought to bear on the test wire, by removing from the cable, and allowing the electricity only one channel, viz: that of the test wire, the discharges, as might be expected, burnt a hole in the gutta percha under the water half inch in length, and the burnt gutta percha came floating up to the sur-

Mr. Varley closes his discouraging catalogue with what, though intended to convey some consolation to the directors, is perhaps the most discouraging part of his report. He says: "It is not, however, altogether impossible that some intelligible signals may yet be received through the cable, as stated in my previous commu

The Collins steamship Atlantic was sold in New York on the 7th inst., to the California, New York and European Steamship Company, and will be put on the line immediately, for San Francisco and Fraser river direct, via Nicaragua. The sum paid for her is said to be only $500,000.

and State of New York. The fact that this structure was located directly under the reservoir of the public water-works, and that the apparatus of the palace was out of order, shows how careless people are to secure the public against the less of either property or life. We extract some of the particulars of this calamity from the New York Times:

"The Crystal Palace was totally destroyed by fire was a feer 5 P. M. fire was been and clubs, and club headed by a white man who pretended to be "one of her Majesty's officers." Thence the fire spread in every direction, and in a little over twenty minutes from the time when it was first discovered the entire roof of the Palace fell, carrying with it most of the walls beneath.

Some of the principal reral fine pieces of statuary, including Kiss's equestrioters have been arrested; the matter has also been laid before the attorney general of the province for his action. The whole family of the boy, consisting of his father and mother, and numerous brothers and sisters, belong to the gentleman who lost him, and this is the first inroad that has ever been made in the family circle. How it will affect them others have described very often of late years. It may be worthy of note that an older brother was enticed away at Niagara Falls a couple of years since, but returned after an absence of three weeks.

Y VIRTUE OF A DEED made by Frederick J. Cutlar to the subscriber, the 17th day of July, 1856, he will offer for sale at Exchange Corner, in the town of Wilmington, on the 25th day of October, 1858, the lands conveyed in said deed, situated about eight miles below Wilmington, on the Creek well known as Mott's Creek, and fronting on the Cape Fear River, containing about nine hundred acres. Said lands are well known as being valuable rice lands, and are also highly valuable for all other agricultural purposes; besides, they contain a good deal of Pine and Cypress timber on them.

The terms of sale will be upon a credit of six and twe've months, with bond and approved security.

The subscriber, or DR. CUTLAR, will offer every facility to any person who may desire to examine said lands previous to the day of sale.
